

THE Power OF HER

For nearly 60 years Carondelet has pursued its distinctive mission to inspire excellence by preparing young women to live with heart, faith, courage, and excellence. Generations of alumnae can testify to the deeply formative and life-changing experience that takes place from the moment they step onto our campus to the day of their graduation. These years are among the most significant in developmental achievements, from learning to manage emotions and creating lifelong relationships to establishing self-identity and encountering different perspectives, to perhaps most importantly, developing a purpose for life.

For every entering class, President Jessica Mix '99 reaffirms the importance of our Sisters of St. Joseph mission—unifying love, serving the dear neighbor without distinction, and responding to the needs of the times. This North Star remains our steadfast guide, yet as the world changes, so do the demands on Carondelet and our students. In a radically interconnected, complex, and dynamic world, we must continually adapt to ensure that we engage our students in a whole-person education that is intellectually, socially, and spiritually transformative—one that prepares them for success and fulfillment in the future. Research shows that the high school years are critical to setting the stage for students' futures, and Carondelet is committed to fulfilling its mission for each of them.

The Power of Her Campaign reflects our unique challenge to ensure that students continue to graduate equipped for meaningful lives of scholarship, health and wellness, leadership, civic responsibility, and service. Despite historical progress, a systemic disparity of opportunity and resources continue to hinder the potential and promise of young women. They deserve to embrace the full scope of possibilities—academic, spiritual, economic, and social. Carondelet's co-curricular, female-centric learning environment serves to translate the idea of parity into practice.

We are committed to continuing this process by investing in our most pressing priority: the remaking of our original locker room into the Boscacci Performance Center, including a Movement Studio, Main Campus Training Facility, Locker Lounge, and curricular facilities. Creating a Movement Studio (which will house Carondelet's dance, cheer, and yoga programs among other initiatives) is a specific need our female centric educational experience demands. The Boscacci Performance Center will provide students with a dedicated space to dream and achieve in this vein.

We look forward to sharing more in the coming weeks and months, and we are excited and humbled to have our 12,000+ strong Alumnae community behind us. Thank you all for being part of the singular legacy of Carondelet—past, present, and future.

Quick Facts:

- Cost: $3.5M (roughly $2M will be raised by the time we go public in January)
- Timeline: Five months from start of construction (our goal is to open by October '25)
