

Dr. Scott Campbell hails from central PA. He went to Dickinson College, graduating summa cum laude in Biology and then attended Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania where he graduated AOA in 2006. After completing psychiatry residency at Penn he joined as faculty 2010-2015. He served as Medical Director of Mental Health at AIDS Healthcare Foundation, a global HIV nonprofit, and then joined faculty at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center where he also served as Medical Director of Mental Health and created a collaborative care program to serve the Los Angeles Community. He returned to Penn in 2024 as the Robert Sadoff Associate Professor of Psychiatry and is the Residency Program Director and Vice Chair of Education .