'GRIPPING' GOD'S WORD

Work Gloves

Driving east on Highway 51 just west of Stillwater is Country Club Road. Turning south and driving 1.5 miles is located a valley shaded by large pecan trees.

This was a portion of the 1889 claim staked by my great-grandfather, Montgomery. It was passed on to my mother's parents.

My grandparents raised cotton, corn, wheat, watermelons, peanuts and, of course, the pecan crop in the fall.

My grandfather, also named

Rev. Barrie Henke
District President

Montgomery, farmed with a team of mules because he said they worked harder, smarter and faster than horses. The names of his last team resonated throughout the valley as he encouraged them: "Ho, Tom! Ho, Kate!" He had a ritual after harnessing the team. He would spit in his gloves, rub them together, then securely grasp the reins.

This ritual also carried over to his driving. Behind the wheel of his pale grey, 1952 Ford sedan, he would slip on his gloves, spit in them, rub them together and then grasp the steering wheel. For him, any task needing a firm grip involved spitting in his gloves and rubbing them together.

Work Stoles

I recently experienced the blessing of ordaining and installing three men into the office of the holy ministry. These new workers have been placed by God among us to serve in His spiritual vineyard here in Oklahoma. At ordination they were not given a pair of gloves to begin their work — and for this I was glad because my mouth was pretty dry, which made spitting almost impossible!

However, they were vested with a red stole, by which they symbolically put on the "yoke" of Christ for doing His work. These men made promises to be faithful in their ministry and to seek the empowerment of the Holy Spirit for devoted service to Christ and His church.

As I installed each one of them, the congregation members also made promises to faithfully help them carry out the ministry entrusted to their specific congregation by God. The divine purpose to which they have been called is described by the apostle Paul:

And he gave the apostles, the prophets, the evangelists, the pastors and teachers, to equip the saints for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ.

Eph. 4:11-12

Ryan Groh, a member of St. John's, Moore, graduated with honors from Concordia University, Nebraska, in May. A pre-seminary student, he majored in psychology. Ryan was also selected as the distinguished biblical languages student for his three years of coursework in Greek and two years of Hebrew studies.

Ryan and his wife, Grace, are moving to Fort Wayne, Ind., this summer and he will attend Concordia Theological Seminary in the fall. Grace will graduate later this year after completing her student teaching in the Fort Wayne area. The newlyweds appreciate the Oklahoma District's ongoing support through its church-worker scholarship program.

Share your news with us!

We are always in need of more submissions for the Oklahoma District Lutheran Witness insert. Why should you send them in? It helps remind us of what God is doing around the district. It is also a way to share ideas for nurturing those God has already gathered into His church and for reaching those still outside of the flock with the Good News about Jesus. It finally reminds each of us that Christ's church is much larger than just our particular congregation.

Please send submissions to Janice Hedrick at jhedrickokdistrict@gmail.com. You may also mail your submissions to Janice at P.O. Box 70, Owasso, OK 74055 (918-629-1225). Please ensure photos sent electronically are high resolution.

The deadline for the October issue is Aug. 15.

MESSAGE

A pastor's work of ministry is to equip you for doing the work of ministry! In other words, the Holy Spirit puts pastors to work for the purpose of putting you to work!

Work Tools

The thought of the pastor putting the parishioners to work seems odd, but that is the work St. Paul is talking about, "to equip the saints." The pastor's work is to guide the saints to the tools needed for the work of ministry and teach them how to use them effectively. Those tools are the Word of God and the Sacraments.

The pastor is called to open the Scripture ... making it understandable ... remembering that:

All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be competent, equipped for every good work.

2 Tim. 3:16-17

The pastor is charged with directing the focus of the saints to God's purpose of "building up the body of Christ."

When I was ordained over 48 years ago, I thought I had to do all the work of ministry by myself — and the "saints" let me! The Holy Spirit gave me the awareness that this was their ministry and I was called simply to share in it with them. This awareness opened to me the true joy of ministry!

Perhaps when you gather for a Bible study with fellow saints, you should slip on some work gloves, spit into them, rub them together and then clutch your leather-bond Bible ... or maybe not! It would grab everyone's attention though.

Instead, firmly grip your Bible and get to work — reading, studying, learning and inwardly digesting that life-giving Word of God. My grandfather's spitting ritual was only to get a good grip. We also need a good spiritual grip on God's Word for the "building up of the body of Christ." Firmly gripping the Word and desiring to do kingdom work makes life exciting as we allow the Holy Spirit's power to work in us and through us!

Let the work begin!

Christ Academy High School

Thanks be to God — Christ Academy High School was greatly blessed this year! From June 20 through July 3, 39 young men and 26 young women participated in the 22nd annual Christ Academy: Timothy and Phoebe School at Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne (CTFW), Ind. This is a two-week discernment program on the seminary campus for high-school-aged men and women who are interested in theology and who are considering pastoral and diaconal work.

These students were immersed in the daily life of the seminary, especially through confessional catechesis in the classroom. They learned from 14 CTSFW professors and a panel of local pastors and deaconesses. Along with daily classes in the study of the Word, the students worshiped in Kramer Chapel four times a day. They also participated in service projects on campus and around Fort Wayne.

We thank you for your dedication in praying for these students and supporting them as they discern future work in the church. We especially thank and praise God for keeping these young men and women steadfast in the true faith.
