

University HealthCare Alliance

Women in Medicine

Panel Discussion

Wednesday, September 23, 2020

12:15 PM - 1:00 PM

National and local data have demonstrated higher levels of burnout and lower levels of professional fulfillment in female compared to male physicians. While there is a paucity of studies examining the discrepancy in burnout between men and women, we can learn from the lived experiences and wisdom of our own colleagues.

We invite providers and their administrative partners to attend a panel discussion on "Sustaining Professional Fulfillment in Female Physicians and Advanced Practice Providers", where a panel of physicians will share their tips for a long successful career with gender differences in mind.

Webex link with outlook invitation to come