

Friends of Pleasant Bay honors Wequassett Resort

Friends of Pleasant Bay Board President Allison Coleman, together with board members and event co-chairs Joanie Barker, Kari Hoffmann, and Fran Schofield, recently met with Gary Thulander, Area General Manager of the Wequassett Resort & Golf Club, to present a framed aerial print of Pleasant Bay in recognition of the resort's long-standing support and environmental stewardship.

“So many of us learned to sail on this Bay,” Coleman reflected. “And Wequassett was always a landmark — a beacon — welcoming boaters along this beautiful crescent of shoreline. Today, it continues to be a place of hospitality and environmental responsibility.”

Friends of Pleasant Bay expressed deep gratitude to Wequassett for its decades of partnership — hosting the organization's annual meetings, sponsoring the 40th Anniversary Celebration this past August, and supporting ongoing efforts to protect the Bay's ecosystem.

“Your team rose to the occasion at our anniversary event, accommodating an extraordinary turnout with warmth and grace,” Coleman added. “The standing-room-only crowd of more than 200 was a true testament to how much the community cares about this special place.”

In appreciation, Friends of Pleasant Bay presented the aerial print as a token of thanks, anticipating it will be displayed prominently at the resort as a reminder of the shared commitment to Pleasant Bay — and as a symbol of a partnership that continues to grow stronger over time.
